

We can create a more sustainable future by taking steps to implement practical actions. A future where we prevent severe climate and ecological breakdown by working with the earth rather than against her.

We can solve environmental and climate issues by managing living beings and natural resources, from bees to flowers and trees. We will make these solutions a reality by investing in nature-based initiatives.

Here are some projects that will interest you based on your answers.

Supporting collaboration and decision-making for biodiversity conservation and socio-economic objectives for land, freshwater and ocean systems.

Learn more

Monitoring near real time change to catalyse the action needed to protect and restore mangroves.

Learn more

Connecting people and projects to scientific data, monitoring tools, funding, and each other to increase the impact, scale, and sustainability of restoration efforts.

Learn more